What does your PTSA do at Redmond Junior High?

We make good things happen!

We support Associated Student Body (“ASB”) events – PTSA volunteers help with:

- student schedule distribution
- school dance ticket sales
- student body elections
- the Fall magazine drive to raise funds for ASB
- chaperoning dances
- 9th grade celebration in June

Legislative Advocacy – We support state legislative efforts to ensure the health, education and the welfare of all students.

Grizzly Grams – We address and mail teacher-generated postcards to recognize student efforts and achievements throughout the school year.

Student Recognition – We help provide monthly recognition lunches and locker decorations for the “Students-of-the-Month.”

Safe Arrival – We work with the school attendance office each morning to notify parents regarding student absences.

Reading Tutors – We assist one-on-one with students to improve reading skills.

Special Needs – We assist the Special Needs Liaison with support for RJH staff, education for the community, and advocating for children with special needs.

Reflections – We coordinate the WA State PTA and National PTA cultural arts competition that allows RJH student to showcase their creative talent through original works.

Library Helpers – We help the school librarians with projects and volunteer for library hours.

PTSA Student Directory – We create, print and send a Student Directory with helpful information and student names and numbers to our members.

Parent Communications – We provide timely announcements of school activities and matters of interest through weekly email newsletters and periodic print newsletters.

Parent Education – We help coordinate and provide parent education events at our school and in the community.

Emergency Preparedness – We work with school administration and the school district PTSA council to ensure adequate emergency preparedness.

Health Screening – We provide volunteers to help test student vision and hearing at a once-yearly event.

Staff Appreciation – We provide small events throughout the year to show appreciation for school staff.

Hospitality – We provide refreshments for evening school and PTSA events.

Teacher Mini-Grants – We have provided monetary grants to Redmond Junior High staff and their programs to further enrich the lessons and activities of the students.

“Pass the Hat” contributions and membership dues make all these activities possible! Contributions are tax deductible!
